What is Collaborative Learning?

Collaborative learning is a situation in which

- 1. two or more people learn or attempt to learn something together.
- 2. People capitalize on one another's resources and skills (asking one another for information, evaluating one another's ideas, monitoring one another's work, etc.
- 3. knowledge is created within a group where members actively interact by sharing experiences and take on asymmetric roles.

(Source: Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia)

- It also refers to methodologies and environments in which learners engage in a common task where each individual depends on and is accountable to each other. These include both face-to-face conversations, computer discussions, online forums, chat rooms, etc.
- CL activities can include collaborative writing, group projects, joint problem solving, debates, study teams, and other activities. The approach is closely related to cooperative learning.

g) Using the Sidebar

The SideBar can be used to

- provide links to frequently used websites, wiki pages, or resources.
- as a navigation bar for the workspace.

The Sidebar can be used for navigation or to show frequently used websites or other resources. To edit the Sidebar, click the link

3. Application in the Classroom

Suggestions for using Wikis in your classroom:

- 1. Wiki folder can be used by students to store and organize their notes. The teacher can monitor their progress, and meanwhile, their peers can offer constructive support.
- 2. Wiki can be used to display student work (either link to document or import multimedia)
- 3. The students' writing process can be evaluated as the teacher can monitor their editing and revision.

4. It can be used as a website . The teacher can update it as often as needed, and can attach documents to specific student folders if someone is absent or needs additional work or support.

5. The teacher and the students can communicate quickly on an assignment, making the most of their instructional time.

6. Collaborative assignments can be completed by the students and the teacher will have documentation of what each member of the group contributed.

Information Courtesy: <https://sites.google.com/site/inteched/wiki>

7. Wikis can also be used for assessments, journals, research, independent projects.

8. An electronic portfolio can be created by the teacher for students.

9. It can be an engaging alternative to writing journals as it allows students to see the writing process as peers, revise and edit their writing and give feedback to each other.
