Your views about Video Content

- Half an hour long or more
- Speaker gives lecture
- Boring
- ...
- One-way

MONOLOGUES

Old

Delivering content shaped for universal consumption

New

Guiding, supporting and communicating with students as they navigate content

Truly valuing how students think!

The shift!

Challenges :

- Passive watching of videos
- Necessary Activities completed
- Ignore additional resources
- Lack of participation

Shift :

- Concept attainment through learner interaction
- Formative assessments (constructive feedback)
- Advance learning through diverse paths
- Peer learning through focussed discussion

Interactive Videos: Learning Dialogues (LeD)

Why to have Reflection Spots

- make videos interactive
- engage students in content
- quick practice & check within video
- connected with the content explained so far
- allows to think and write the answer in 1-2 mins
- multiple perspectives (Avoid Binary questions.)

Interactive Videos (LeD)

Learning Dialogue (LeD) -- Structure

Content

- Short video that explains a single concept
- Text readings
- Animations

What is a Reflection Spot (RS) ?

A pause point , a question

- Logical point: Where learner needs to recollect/reflect/opine/micro-practice
- Structural point: Where learner may get disengaged with one-way transmission

Closing the loop in an LeD

- Summarize ALL possible answers to engage ALL the learners
- Close the loop

Checklist for Reflection Spot Design

Reflection Spot	Quality Check
Activity Question	1. Have you included a reflection spot activity that requires the learner to recollect/ reflect/ opine/ micro-practice?
Duration	2. Is your reflection spot activity short, so that it can be done by the learner by pausing the LeD for 1-2 minutes?
Connect to LeD	3. Is the summary of anticipated responses to the reflection spot activity included?
