Engolly 8 Respect

Sympathy vs. Empathy

Sympathy is feeling without really understanding the meaning behind the behavior, whereas empathy is:

- accepting and understanding what the other is experiencing.
- thinking and feeling as if you are the one going through the experiences 'to actually be in their shoes'.
- conveying 'I understand how you feel' in verbal and non-verbal ways.

Be Respectful

- Internet is not a value free world.
- Offline laws apply online too.
- Be sensitive to local and national cultures.

Before posting anything online, ask yourself the following:

- Will this information hurt someone?
- Would I say these things while communicating face to face?
- Am I revealing too much about myself or others?
- Who all can access this information?
- What kind of impression am I leaving on others?

- Posts that contain credible threats
- Content that targets people to degrade or shame them

- Posts or threats to post nude photos of you
