WHY COMICS ?

- A great visual Representation of Knowledge
- Presents what is essential
- Easier to remember a visual graphic containing key information
- Engaging through thinking, creating and writing.
- Perfect avenue for writing dialogue
- Incites students with low interest in writing
- Helps organization through storytelling and storyboarding

- Develops creative and higher level thought processes
- Develops composition techniques through visual-verbal connections
- Enriches reading, writing, and thinking
- Serves as an assessment and evaluation tool
- Sequencing promotes understanding
- Using visual images convey meaning to a story or topic

COMIC STRIP

A comic strip is a sequence of images with a small amount of text in each box. This text is normally inside balloons or written as captions. Comic strips (or comic books) are a form of story-telling, which uses drawings or cartoon characters to tell a story.

Step 1: Write your ideas for your comic

Break into 3 parts. Awesome punchline for characters

Step 2: Draw the three-frames

Step 3 : Writing a Script

Step 4: Decide on a story that you want to publish.

Step 5: Decide on your format.

Step 6: Plan each panel.

Step 7 : Balance text and images.
